Per and Eivor Wikström's foundation

Name	Per and Eivor Wikström's foundation
------	-------------------------------------

Purpose	To support scientific teaching, research and studies in economics and law with a particular focus on Swedish integration with French-speaking countries. Should this not be possible, the foundation shall instead support scientific teaching, research and studies in economics and law with a special focus on Swedish integration with Spanish and Portuguese speaking countries. The foundation works for its purpose by partly providing funding for a visiting professorship at the Umeå School of Economics with a special focus of the kind stated above and partly allocating funds for scholarships for individual researchers and students at the Umeå School of Economics. The grants must be distributed in such a way that the foundation remains tax-exempt. If the condition for grant as above no longer exists or the foundation's return cannot be fully used in a useful way for the purpose stated above, grants can instead be given to the scientific teaching conducted at the Stockholm School of Economics, another university, college or scientific institution.

Kreditkoll's Fintech scholarship

Name	Kreditkoll's Fintech scholarship
------	----------------------------------

Purpose	Kreditkoll's scholarship of SEK 5,000. The large banks' physical offices are becoming fewer and fewer and are facing competition from new, fast-moving players such as neobanks and upstart banks. New currencies are popping up at an exceptional rate. We live in an age of digitization, increased mobility, new ways of shopping and new forms of communication. The digital transformation and technological innovation in the financial sector is attracting a lot of money from venture capitalists. Sweden is often at the forefront in terms of disruptive ideas and implementation, but we often get many of these new innovations and business models through meetings with people in other countries, for example through studying abroad. Kreditkoll wants to promote this direction with a scholarship, Kreditkoll's scholarship of SEK 5,000, which is awarded either to someone who writes an essay on the subject of Fintech or places all or part of their studies abroad.
